

4q25

Variants of 4q25 are associated with atrial fibrillation. This risk allele variant is found in 30% of Caucasian population and 70% of Chinese population. Atrial fibrillation is the most common sustained cardiac rhythm disturbance, affecting more than 2 million Americans.